WE'RE LEARNING!

Homeroom:

I am so proud of this class for working toward our goal of talking kindly and respectfully toward our peers. It is something we constantly practice and coach in the moment, but it is great to see the progress happening!

Math:

Graphing has been a fun chapter to work on! This week we will be working on measuring to the nearest half and quarter inch, then graphing our finds!

Writing:

It has been so fun to write poetry! I can't wait to send each students' poetry book home for you to see!

Reading:

The next couple weeks, we will be reading about inventors and inventions! Ask your child what inventions they learned about this week!

Social Studies:

We are going to start work on our final drafts of our state reports AND write opinion essays on why someone should visit each state!

Religion:

Our CRS lesson last week took us to Rwanda! Ask your child what they learned!

REMINDERS

We are working on independence at school.
What are some ways your child can work on independence at home?

TABLE TALK

This section is for a conversation piece you can talk about at the dinner table.
What are some ways I can talk kindly and respectfully to my peers?
